Virtual Open House at the Buell Public Media Center

Wednesday, December 16
2 pm

Join us December 16th at 2pm for a virtual open house of the Buell Public Media Center (the new home of Open Media Foundation and Denver Open Media).

Connect with the tenants as they introduce their new home and share concrete ways that community members can engage with them through current initiatives and ongoing projects and programs.

With support from PEN America's Press Freedom Incentive Fund, which aims to "build new local constituencies ready to defend press freedom," we hope the event will expand the network of supporters and community of citizens who understand the impact and importance of the work that these organizations do.
