Green Pathways

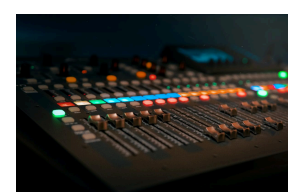

Green Pathways is a holistic experience helping youth looking for opportunities and educational programs to boost their skillsets on their conservation education and career paths. Colorado Youth Corp Association and Colorado Alliance for Environmental Education came to us looking to build an accessible and interactive tool from the ground up that would best serve their youth council in exploring environmental fields. We worked on every part of the experience from web design and development, branding and video. Check out the newly launched Green Pathways website at greenpathways.org

Chicago Justice Project

Chicago Justice Project challenges justice system policies and practices with evidence-based analysis by creating targeted advocacy campaigns and innovative data systems that stimulate change based on real evidence. CJP needed a new way to present and filter their news and updates. Our web team came in and designed an easier and strategic way to learn all about CJP's news updates and advocacy campaigns. chicagojustice.org

Want to Get Your Music on FM Radio?

Get your music played on DOM Radio 92.9FM and 89.3HD3!!! We are seeking music in a variety of genres. So if you have new music, we want to hear it!

Advancing Equity In Local News

Colorado Media Project announced 25 new grants totaling $957,150 that will support Colorado newsrooms, journalists, and media entrepreneurs in launching new projects and strengthening existing efforts to serve communities across the state.

Collectively, these projects were awarded a total of $277,150 to address one or more of these three priorities identified by community members and journalists of color through News Voices: Colorado, a collaborative project led by Free Press, Colorado News Collaborative and Colorado Media Project in 2021:

- Support internal efforts to strengthen diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) in Colorado newsrooms;
- Strengthen connections and build trust between Colorado newsrooms and the diverse communities they serve; and/or
- Support more diverse and inclusive civic news leadership, entrepreneurship, ownership and narratives.

Open Media Foundation

$25,000 toward a dedicated project manager to enhance Open Media's Career Engine human resources service and add recruitment and retention expertise to Colorado newsrooms.

Commerce City on Open.Media

Commerce City is one of the newest municipalities on Open.Media. Located in southern Adams county, Commerce City is part of Colorado's capital metropolitan area. In 1952 the municipality was incorporated as Commerce Town. It annexed the town of Derby in 1962 and gained status as Commerce City. Live streams of city council meetings are now available.
