COLORADO CITIZEN OBSERVERS

PILOT PROJECT

The League of Women Voters of Larimer County Partners with Open Media and Others to Develop Citizen Observer Project

Gates Family Foundation funded the partner group to develop the Colorado Citizen Observers Pilot Project. Other partners included Colorado News Collaborative, Colorado Freedom of Information Coalition, Colorado Press Association, and Colorado State University Center for Public Deliberation. The pilot developed a template to create new, independent public records of the hundreds of meetings that happen each month in local and county governments. Observers were trained to attend public meetings, then publish the results. Open Media provided a platform to archive live streams, documentation and transcriptions of the public meetings.

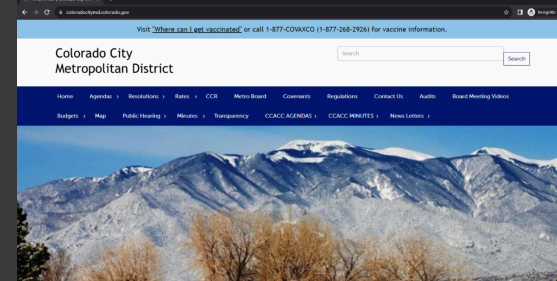

This pilot joins the national collaborative of citizen advocates for democracy, headed by pilot consultants City Bureau and Documenters. Plans to roll out the pilot project across other counties and states are currently under discussion.

The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan, grassroots organization working, for over one-hundred years, to protect and expand voting rights and ensure everyone is represented. The league empowers voters and defends democracy through advocacy, education, and litigation, at the local, state, and national levels.

Colorado City, Colorado on Open Media

Colorado City is a census-designated place and metropolitan district in Pueblo County, Colorado. It is governed by an elected, five-member board of directors and services are managed by an appointed district manager. The first settlement was Cuerno Verde, named after an 18th century Comanche chief. In 1845 it became a trading post then in 1853 it is said that six New Mexican families built an irrigation system to divert water from Greenhorn Creek for their crops.

The population of Colorado City CDP is now 2,237 according to the 2020 census.
